TRANSACTIONAL and TRANSFORMATIONAL LEADERSHIP

TRANSACTIONAL	TRANSFORMATIONAL
Emphasizes corrective action and mutual exchanges and rewards only when performance expectations are met.	Starts from recognition of what the members need and the steps toward achieving these needs, and relating rewards to effort.
Leaders direct most activities by telling each person what to do, when to do it, and how to do it.	Leaders trust their subordinates and give them enough space to breathe and grow.
Based on power that makes use of rewards and coercion to deliver benefits to members (patronage), or to force or instill as illustrated by colonization, vote-buying and similar methods.	He/she lives out values, demonstrates personal qualities, is approachable and accessible, and accepts pressure to perform.

TRANSFORMATIONAL LEADERSHIP

occurs when leaders broaden and elevate the interests of their employees, when they generate awareness and acceptance of the purposes and mission of the group, and when they stimulate their employees to look beyond their own self- interest for the good of the group

BEHAVIORS OF A TRANSFORMATIONAL LEADERS

Is articulate in creating compelling vision of the future

Leaders communicate in a ways that inspires trust and enthusiasm. They help align a team around a shared direction.

1

Uses stories and symbols to communicate his/ her vision and message

Leaders tell real or fictional examples to explain complex ideas. They use metaphors, symbols, logos that stand for bigger ideas. Humanize a message and help connect emotionally.

Specifies the importance of having a strong sense of purpose and collective mission.

Leaders remind the team how their work contributes to a larger impact, reinforcing that everyone's efforts matters in achieving success together.

Talks optimistically and enthusiastically and expresses confidence that goals will be achieved.

Leaders focuses on possibilities, solutions and the bright side even during challenges.

Engenders the trust and respect of his/her followers by doing the right thing rather that simply doing things right.

Good leader earns the trust and respect of followers by doing what is morally right, fair, and honest, not just by doing tasks correctly or efficiently.

Instills pride in employees

Leaders create a culture where people feel respected and appreciated. They celebrate team achievements and individual contribution.

A leader should be energetic, sympathetic, friendly, and understanding to ensure the enthusiastic cooperation of followers.

2

He / She should have confidence in knowing and doing his/her job to gain the confidence of followers.

3

He / She should be an example to followers.

7 HABITS OF HIGHLY EFFECTIVE PEOPLE

THINK WIN-WIN

Look at life as a cooperative arena, not a competitive one.

PUT FIRST THING FIRST

Practice self-management.

SEEK FIRST TO UNDERSTAND, THEN TO BE UNDERSTOOD

The best way to understand is to listen.

BEGIN WITH THE END IN MIND

Know where you want to go. Envision your goal and make it happen

SYNERGIZE

Better results can be produced as a group than as individuals.

BE PROACTIVE

Being able to take responsibility for your life.

SHARPEN THE SAW

TEAMWORK

is the process of working collaboratively with group of people in order to achieve a goal

TIME MANAGEMENT

is the art of arranging, organizing, scheduling, and budgeting one's time for the purpose of generating more effective work and productivity

DECISION-MAKING

is the process that involves selecting the most logical choice from among two or more options

CONSIDERATIONS:

1. Identification of alternative solutions
2. Evaluation of possible options to determine which one meets the decision objectives
3. Selection of the best option after an in-depth evaluation

INVOLVEMENT IN DECISION-MAKING

1

CONSENSUS OR AGREEMENT

involves compromising various possibilities after all opinions have been heard

2

MAJORITY

voting is considered the most effective way to make a decision is not consciously organized, but a few powerful personalities dominate the group, often unconsciously.

3

The decision may be shaped more by personality than by fair process.

4

SILENT CONCENSUS

-leads to unanimous decisions

-rarely applied when tackling important issues

Agreement is reach w/o much verbal discussion.

5

is a small group whose members plan beforehand to get their way in decision-making

Exclusive group of people secretly coordinate before meetings to ensure that their preferred decision is chosen.

6

7

ONE-PERSON DECISION

is quickly made, but later when the decider needs free or voluntary support from others to implement the decision, he/she might find trouble getting it

8

PLOP

occurs when a group makes a decision by not making a decision at all

DIFFICULTIES IN DECISION-MAKING

Fear of consequences brings division and disagreement.

Conflicting loyalties of one person as a member of different groups frequently leads to divided loyalties about decisions

Interpersonal conflicts and personal differences evoke various feelings among members, which interfere with sound decision-making.

Hidden agenda or secret motive can hinder decision-making for reasons a members does not share with the group.

Blundering methods include using rigid procedure that leaves little room for expressing differing views, substituting personal opinions for adequate information, and disregarding proper consultation or consensus

Inadequate leadership restricts the expression of opinions and discussion on issues. Leaders fail to provide assistance in selecting appropriate methods for decision-making or are insensitive to the factors that cause difficulty in the group

Clash of interest occurs when different groups or individuals within an organization have opposing interests.

Transformational leadership is an organizational system framework that influences people to come together around a common vision.

One of the marks of a good leader is the ability to listen, learn, and lead his/her followers toward the attainment of goals. He / She is adept in teamwork, time management, and decision-making.
